THE BIRTH OF A HERO: AN EXHIBITION FOR CHILDREN

Welcoming people of all ages to discover the myth of Cadmus, “the first hero,” this playful exhibition explores the journey of the Phoenician prince, Cadmus, widely known for spreading the Phoenician alphabet to the world. He also paved the way for legendary heroic figures in mythology and beyond. From dragon-slaying to metamorphosis, this exhibition seeks to map out the story of Cadmus and reveal his journey to heroism.

Beatrice Doumet, a burgeoning illustrator with a Bachelor of Arts in Art History from NYU, delved into Phoenician mythology as the cornerstone of her research.

Now, she is set to unveil her inaugural exhibition at the LAU-Louis Cardahi Foundation.
